

TRAINING GUIDE OCHSNER SPORT ZÜRICH MARATHON, 10 KM

TRAINING GUIDE BY VIKTOR RÖTHLIN,
OCHSNER SPORT RUNNING EXPERT

TRAINING PLAN GUIDE

TRAINING GUIDE	10 km finisher 14-week guide to running the 10 km with no time constraints. The goal is to finish and have an enjoyable experience.	10 km in 60min 14-week guide with the goal of being able to run 10km in 60 minutes.	10 km in 45min 14-week guide for more ambitious runners who not only want to reach the finish line, but also want to achieve a quick time.
GUIDE STRUCTURE	The guide is structured cyclically. An easy week is always followed by a medium week and then a hard week. Training sessions are organised by colour according to intensity. Green means you run at a slow, even pace. During yellow zones you run at a medium pace and red means you can really accelerate. Two thirds of all training sessions are «green» which is important for basic endurance!
FLEXIBILITY	Be flexible! You can reorganise and rotate workouts within the same week. Keep in mind: 1. Always take a day off after a red training session and a long run. 2. Do not carry over any training sessions into the next week.
INCREASING TRAINING WORKLOAD	If you want to add more to your routine, any extra training sessions should only be «green» and can only be added to the second (medium) or third (hard) week. Never fill an easy week with additional running workouts. If you do any alternative sports, they too should take place in the green or, at most, the yellow zone.
BREAKS FROM TRAINING	With a maximum of 2 possible training sessions per week: complete the long run (if available) and a yellow training session. With a maximum of 1 possible training session per week: complete the long run. However, this should not be done more than twice during preparations over the last 3 months. Otherwise you will definitely have to compensate with alternative sports!
MOTIVATION	Your «10 km run» goal should be enjoyable, so keep your motivation high. Go on runs with friends or let your children accompany you on their bikes during long runs. Postpone a workout if you're feeling totally unmotivated. Enjoy improvements in your performance and, above all, listen carefully to your body. If you feel very tired or weak, skip a workout or run only in the green zone instead of the yellow zone. But always remember: every third week is a hard week. You should feel very tired from training by the end of the week! This will be followed by an easy, relaxing week, which you'll enjoy even more.
CORE STRENGTH & ADDITIONAL TRAINING	In addition to endurance training, it is also important to strengthen the musculoskeletal system to prevent injuries. Be sure to include strengthening sessions alongside your running training. Above all, you should regularly complete core strength training for an upright and evenly balanced running style and additional training for leg axis stability.

PACE CALCULATION

In order for you to get an idea of how fast the pace guidelines are for you personally, complete a 10 km run as fast as you can or estimate how long it currently takes you to run 10 km. As an example, let's say 50 minutes für 10 km, which corresponds to a pace of 5 minutes per kilometre.

Pace	Calculation	Sample	Sample pace
Regenerative	+ 35–50%	5 Min + 35–50%	= 6:45–7:30
Slow	+ 25–40%	5 Min + 25–40%	= 6:15–7:00
Medium	+ 10–25%	5 Min + 10–25%	= 5:30–6:15
Fast	+ 0–10%	5 Min + 0–10%	= 5:00–5:30
